

	Yes	No	Don't know	Partially	Total
Are you in favour of homework?	16	1			17
Are you in favour of homework for year R? (not including reading)	2	10		5	17
Are timings appropriate?	12	5			17
Are tasks engaging and productive?	15	1	1		17
Are expectations clearly communicated?	16	1			17
Do you like the project style homework?	9	3	4	1	17
Should reading, spelling and timestables remain key priorities?	17				17
Are their reasons for children being exempt from homework?	11	6			17
Do tasks give a better understanding of what your child is learning?	14	3			17
Do task give a better understanding of your child's strengths and weaknesses?	12	4		1	17
Do you work on tasks with your child?	7	1		9	17

Reading plus flashcards - some art and craft/ 'Yes' responses are those who favour tasks in addition to reading
Those replying 'no' would like more

Illness, bereavement, stress levels, learning difficulties

Genreal Comments worth noting:

Feedback should be greater and more consistent to enable the child and parents to gain a better understanding of how well they have done
Play to children's strengths and provide some differentiation where required
Ensure tasks are not generic and monotonous
Look, cover, write, check/comprehension/timestables sheets/ Schofield and Sims books are popular
Pre-learning of topic words/ engaging topic work
Spellings in sentences
More maths
Clarity on what makes a good/ outstanding project piece - what should be included?
Science tasks
Tasks that involve family and open up interesting conversations

