School and Classroom Rules

The school rules are on display around the school and in the classrooms. The rules are regularly referred to in assemblies and throughout the school day. They support the pupils understanding of expected behaviour. At the beginning of each school year, teachers will draw up behaviour and expectations 'contract' with their class, discussing the reasons for that behaviour. These will then be referred to regularly. Poor behaviour constitutes the disregard of these rules and includes acts of assault on any member of the school community.

Promoting & Rewarding Positive Behaviour

Context:

At Shipbourne School we believe that outstanding behaviour and attitudes to learning are achieved through positive reinforcement. The following is a list of rewards that will be used at Shipbourne School:

House Points

The purpose of house points is to encourage positive behaviour through giving children an instant reward for their behaviour and attitude. House points are the primary method of rewarding good behaviour on a daily basis. Any member of staff can award house points.

- Pupils at Shipbourne School are put into three 'houses' at the start of their time at school
- House Points are small tokens which are awarded to children for any of the following reasons:
 - An outstanding piece of work
 - Demonstrating good effort when encountering a challenge
 - Following a school rule
 - When a learning target has been achieved
 - Supporting other pupils in their learning
 - Demonstrating that a school rule or value has been followed
 - Promoting good behaviour in others
 - Improving their behaviour
 - Taking responsibility for their learning
 - Carrying out extra responsibilities in class
 - Answering a question well
 - Developing confidence in an area

This is not an exclusive list.

House points are then counted by year 6 pupils every Friday before achievement assembly, where the total house point scores for each house are read out. The house with the highest total gets 3 points, then 2, then 1.

Celebrating Our Achievements and House Points Assemblies

The purpose of Celebrating Our Achievement assembly is to focus on rewarding good behaviour and attitudes, which are linked to our values, and promote house points in front of the whole school on a weekly basis.

Every week each teacher nominates at least one pupil in their class. The child is congratulated in assembly by the head teacher and receives a certificate to take home. Year 6 record this and produce an 'achievement leaflet' each week for parents which goes out on a Tuesday and in the next school newsletter. After the children have been congratulated, the results of the house points for the week are announced. The winning house moves up the house point chart in the hall.

At the end of the term, the winning house receives 30 minutes extra break time from 2:30-3:00 during the last week of term, supervised by head teacher and TAs. The winning house also receives the House Points cup which has their coloured ribbons on for the term and is displayed in the hall.

Each class teacher can also use systems within the class to manage behaviour.

Extra Break Times

Extra break time may be rewarded to a class, target group, year group or key stage by a class teacher in conjunction with the head teacher.

Extra break time can be awarded for the following:

- Consistently good behaviour and work
- Good behaviour on an educational visit
- Good behaviour when a visitor has been in school
- A class with high attendance (above 98%) over the short term
- Improving on a class target i.e. Coming in to assembly in a more ordered way.

The extra break time will take place after lunch time and will be organised and monitored by the head teacher.

Behaviour and Sanctions

We encourage good behaviour through a mixture of high expectations, policy and an ethos which fosters discipline and mutual respect. However, there are clear sanctions for those who do not comply with the behaviour policy. The Equality Act 2010 is recognised as a key factor in applying sanctions fairly. However, as detailed in government guidance, exclusions from disability apply where the tendency to set fires, tendency to steal, tendency to physical or sexual abuse of other persons, exhibitionism, or voyeurism constitute an impairment in themselves. The exclusions also apply where these tendencies arise as a consequence of, or a manifestation of, an impairment that constitutes a disability for the purposes of the Act.

When poor behaviour is identified, the following sanctions will be implemented, depending on the severity of the misdemeanour.

- Verbal reprimand
- Extra work or repeating unsatisfactory work
- Loss of privileges (i.e play time/non participation in a class or whole school event)
- Missing break time
- Regular reporting for behaviour monitoring
- Temporary or permanent exclusion in extreme cases, especially for violent conduct and persistent violation of the school rules.

Exclusions

In cases of misconduct, fixed term and permanent exclusions from school may be necessary in response to serious breaches of the school's behaviour policy. The school has therefore adopted the standard national list of reasons for exclusion, and the standard guidance, called Improving Behaviour and Attendance: Guidance on Exclusion from School and Child Referral Units (DFE September 2012).

Only the headteacher (or the acting headteacher) has the power to exclude a child from school. The headteacher may exclude a child for one or more fixed periods, for up to 45 days in any one school year. In extreme and exceptional circumstances, the headteacher may exclude a child permanently. It is also possible for the headteacher to convert a fixed-term exclusion into a permanent exclusion, if the circumstances warrant this.

If the headteacher excludes a child, s/he informs the parents or carers immediately, giving reasons for the exclusion followed up in writing without delay. This letter will include details of the statutory process as stated in DFE guidelines. At the same time, the headteacher makes it clear to the parents or carers that they can, if they wish, make representation to the governing body.

The headteacher informs the LA and the governing body about any exclusion.

Neither the governing body or the discipline panel can exclude a child or extend the exclusion period made by the headteacher.

The Governing Body will consider any representations made by parents if they dispute a decision to exclude, either by request in writing or as stated within statutory guidelines.

Monitoring and review

The headteacher monitors the effectiveness of this policy on a regular basis. S/he also reports to the governing board on the effectiveness of the policy and, if necessary, makes recommendations for further improvements.

The school keeps a variety of records concerning incidents of misbehaviour. The class teacher records minor classroom incidents. The headteacher records those incidents in which a child is sent to him/her on account of bad behaviour. We also keep a record of any incidents that occur at break or lunchtimes: lunchtime supervisors give written details of any incident in the pastoral file.

The headteacher keeps a record of any child who is excluded for a fixed-term, or who is permanently excluded, and informs the LA.

It is the responsibility of the governing board to monitor the rate of suspensions and exclusions, and to ensure that the school policy is administered fairly and consistently. The governing body will pay particular attention to matters of racial equality; it will seek to ensure that the school abides by the non-statutory guidance The Duty to Promote Race Equality: A Guide For Schools, and that no child is treated unfairly because of race or ethnic background.

This policy will be monitored by the Governing Board, who will always take due note of the guidance provided by the Local Education Authority.

The policy will be reviewed every three years, or earlier in the light of any changed circumstances.
